About This Book

This book does not contain all of the hymns that are included in the official church Hymnal. Some hymns include accidentals (extra sharps and flats that are not normally part of the song's key), which are difficult to play on the harmonica.

Some hymns that are considered essentials, but have accidentals, have been adapted through minor note changes for playing on the harmonica. These versions are included in a separate section at the end of the book.

The notes used for these adaptations are only those of the melody. The melody is usually the top line of notes, and is what you hear most often when the congregation sings in unison. The individual parts (soprano, alto, tenor and bass) are not included, nor are many of the supplemental notes that would be played on the piano.

Harmonicas have two reeds in each hole. One reed is the blow reed, while the other is the draw reed. In other words, each hole plays two different notes depending on whether you are blowing or drawing.

Each harmonica can only play the notes that are included in its key. For example, a C harmonica will have no flats or sharps. An F harmonica will have a B-flat, but no B-natural, and so forth. That means that if a song is written in the key of G, it is best played on a G harmonica.

Nevertheless, the great thing about the harmonica is that the relative note layout is the same on every harmonica. On an F harp, the transition from 7 blow to 7 draw is the half step down from F to E. On a C harp that same transition is the half step down from C to B. Another example is the transition from 6 blow to 6 draw: a full step up from C to D on the F harp, and a full step up from G to A on the C harp.

What that means in simple terms is that any song can be played on any key harmonica without going through the process of transposing the music. Simply follow the numbers and blow or draw.

That means that if you only have one harmonica – the most common is C, for example – you can still play all of the hymns included in this book.

How to use this book

Each hymn includes the lyrics for only the first verse, with a number and an arrow above each syllable:

#1 The Spirit of God (Originally Hymn #2)

Key: B Flat

6	7	8	8	8	8	7	7 7	6	6	6	6
The	Spir	- it	of	God	Like	a	fire	is	burn	- ing!

The number relates to the hole to be played on the harmonica. The arrows above the numbers tell you whether to play a blow note or a draw note. The up arrow (↑) means blow, while the down arrow (↓) means draw.

The key in which the song was written appears below the title of the hymn. That means the hymn is best-played on that key harmonica, but it can be played on any harmonica by following the same notation.

Harmonica music does not use the quarter notes, half notes and whole notes that normal musical notation uses to communicate timing. Therefore, it helps to be familiar with the tune so you can play the proper length on each note.
